Identification of disrupted supply and value chains

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

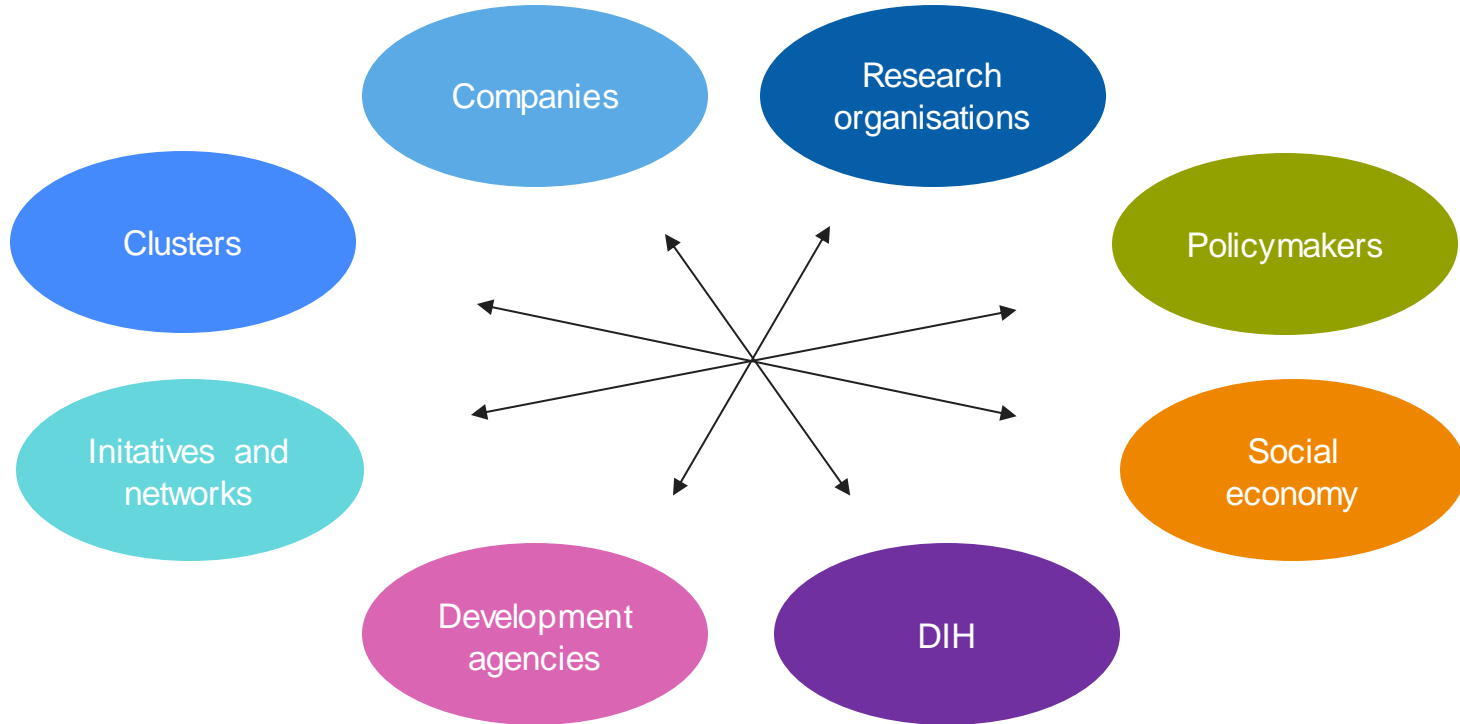

To help repair the economic and social damage brought by the coronavirus pandemic, kick-start European recovery, and protect and create jobs, the European Commission is proposing a major recovery plan for Europe which was announced on 27 May 2020 in the Communication COM(2020) 456: Europe's moment: Repair and Prepare for the Next Generation. It states very clearly that the supply chains and production lines have been disrupted and the trade in goods and services has been interrupted. The crisis has broken up parts of our productive tissue and has affected crucial supply chains. This disruption of production and decline in demand in one Member State will have a significant impact in others. The EU should reduce its dependency on external suppliers and increase its resilience to global supply issues.

The cluster community needs to react promptly to strengthen our supply chains and addressing the issues that were exposed during the crisis. Therefore, the European Clusters Alliance, under a contract with the European Commission and reacting quickly after the publication of this Communication is Identifying these disruptions.

We ask you to share your knowledge on disrupted supply value chains in or across industrial ecosystems to find solutions which will strengthen our open strategic autonomy unlocking investments for greener, more digital and resilient Next Generation EU.
