OBJECTIVES OF THE MISSION

The mission consists in meetings with relevant Taiwanese stakeholders in the technical textile and functional textile sectors as well as in exhibiting on a booth at TITAS show in Taipei.

During the mission, several activities will be carried out by EU-TEXTILE2030 partners such as visit to the fair TITAS, visits to research facilities, meetings with companies and relevant stakeholders.

The objectives are :

1. To promote research activities in Europe related to advanced technical textile materials to Taiwanese companies and research centers.
2. To establish technological partnerships between research institutes/technological centers.
3. To establish collaboration partnerships between Japanese and EU companies: both for commercial or technological purposes.
4. To open new markets for European SMEs.

PARTICIPANTS

Cluster's managers from EU-TEXTILE2030 and clusters' members (SMEs or Research centers).

Taipei Innovative Textile Application Show

The 23rd Taipei Innovative Textile Application Show (TITAS 2019) takes place from October 7-9 at Taipei Nangang Exhibition Center, Hall 1. There will be 350 exhibitors with more than 700 booths from all over the world to gather in the professional trade show. This year's TITAS is all about Sustainable, Smart and Functional Textiles, with the focus on:

- Sustainability – cutting down resource usage and optimizing manufacturing efficiency to achieve zero discharge of hazardous substances by adopting eco-friendly materials and processes
- Smart textiles – combining cloud computing and advanced communication technology to provide wearable technology that is fashionable and comfortable
- Functional applications – applying multifunctional textiles to a new lifestyle across sports, outdoor, fashion, fitness and wellness
- Smart Manufacturing has utilized Industry 4.0 high-end technology production processes to automate the work of sewing ready-to-wear clothing, and used the smart applications of the Internet, electronic business services and mobile apps to improve overall efficiency.
